Perdition's Light

Funeral Mist

Again I entreat thee, dazzling one, To once again embellish this quenchless soul Redeeming curse, painful splendour impregnate The light of utmost purity Light to see

For blind are you who deny the luminous holiness of an immacula te soul, And blind are you who see mercy as a key Mercy denied, you shall never see again Light! ...Perditions light! Arise now O puissant angel of our glaring doom

Miscarriage of the boundless love... See me now so that I can eat your eyes out, For your blindess gives me sight, As your darkness is for me light

Your dying eyes made me see, that I breathe your misery Again I implore thee, Satanas, to once again cast thy blessing shadow The shadow of death and thy impenetrable wings Come, reduce these lands to impotence Light to see

For blind are you Denier of the radiant splendour in death And blind are you who dream of salvation through sin Sleep forever, but you shall never dream again Light! ...Perdition's light! Emerge now O strict angel of our glaring dawn...