

Giant Song

Funeral Party

Scattered in the lights
The glowing halos in the center of your eyes
Jump off holding hands
Making the memories as we're taking our first glance

And the falling sky
Exploding colors
Synchronized in a stream of light

And we'll watch them glow and believe
There still is hope for us to see
In soaring stars and shooting skies
A taste of life, you've never tried

Stand up in the night
The floating visions in the middle of your mind
Drum lines on parade
We run in circles, make the nights turn into days

Cross over and under
We're shouting like thunder
And stay youthful forever
So take that chance

Like it's our last time
To capture what we find
No memories fogs our minds
We left it all behind to find

What we would need to leave that place
The possibilities to live in endless ways
Will watch the fires glowing in dim blue light
The knowledge that were learning only makes it right

We'll watch them glow and believe
There's still hope for us to see
In soaring stars and shooting skies
A taste of life, you've never tried
