

The Repentant

Funeral

See the sun you left dawning into the black sea into me In my heart, this painful sea a sea of spite, all that is inside
-set me free!

For evermore, bathing in your might Flowing down my own streams of pityness

Can anyone save me from myself Somebody hear me, somebody heal me

If you feel in your heart
You will know that my pride is all I have If you look in this heart you will know all that's left is but disgrace

I must be all forgiven
For I know not my sins

Do not wear this weary veil around you to drag yourself down For you are my own self, nothing else but the true tempter