Final Thrill

Funker Vogt

Another land, another culture With a different kind of life What was once forbidden Belongs here to social life

While you travel to those countries You can live a thousand lives In a castle somewhere in britain Or a temple down in asia

Give me a golden shower Give me a new thrill Give me this experience And give me the last kill

Give me almighty power
Give me a strong will
Give me a new life
And give me the final thrill

Hatred, boredom and the lies
Plenty of false moral rules
Breaking them in many ways
You don't belong to these fools

Being sneaky, unpredictable Never is forgiven Condemned and rejected But you live, you live your life