

Close Your Eyes

Future of Forestry

Promise once it shut you out
You ask, "What was that all about now?"
You and I through rise and fall
We've seen the horizon through it all now

Close your eyes this time
'Cause trust is all we have tonight
But trust will be forever Safe your dreams will be 'Cause trust will be the light tonight
So close your eyes this time

The house sits stale, it lets you roam
Inside it just don't feel like home now
I promise hope will pull you out
For that's what love is all about

Time will turn this place around
For the man you call Jesus was still a Son like you Sons will spend their days searching hard for the things they are made of

Close your eyes this time
Trust will be the light tonight so close your eyes this time
Trust will be the light tonight so close your eyes