

Left with Someone Else

Gabriella Cilmi

I sold my soul for a two mile ride
A passenger with no alibi
Half way gone and I realized
I sold my soul for some fucked up guy

He left with someone else
With my lipstick on his coat
He left with someone else
and took my body from its bones
Said it was alright
was only for a night
Now send a word back home
To prove I'm gone

Was so quiet then he came around
I bet my heart on something loud
They always knew were I'd be found
So I sold my soul to his world of doubt

He left with someone else
With my lipstick on his coat
He left with someone else
and took my body from its bones
Said it was alright
was only for a night
Now send a word back home
To prove I'm gone

And you'll always find another maybe
If you're looking with a restless eye
You can find another lover baby
If you're looking for waste of time
When someone makes you happy
And wants to give it all to you
You'll always feel you're missing something

It will never enough until

Until you've left with someone else
And put your lipstick on his coat You've left with someone else and took his body from its bones
Said it was alright
was only for a night
Now send a word back home
To prove you're gone
