I'm The Boss Of Me

Gaia Mesiah

I am flying on the island full of dreams and chances Listening to the flowers which grow through experiences Driving through a roaring land wanna rip me from inside Who are you and who I am And everything is wasted

I'm breaking up with history which lays in my own memory Sun is full of trust (in my land) I feel that it's all in my ha nds Storms and huricanes can flow (under expectation) Who are you and who I am And everything is wasted

I'm learning the joy of life is mine to find New adventures those who won't come stay behind I am burning there's so much that I want to do It is my life, I'm the boss of me

Everyone is crying when the time is too late I'm starring in a mirror and my heart stoped cold with hate Full of broken dreams (and I blamed you it's true) Who are you and who I am And everything is wasted
