

Acheron

Galadriel

The past has enslaved that all
We built for the future life
Through an endless age of twilight
We tried to regain our pride

Strangers ruled us by the divine right
Mastered our fate just as they liked
In spite the pain and desperation
We never forgot the name of our NATION