

Amaranth

Galahad

We're never in, we're never out
We're always roundabout
We're never far, we're never near
We're always not quite here
We're never up, we're never down
We're ever changing sound... chaser...

Here today, here tomorrow
Gone today, gone tomorrow

Amaranth, you're the overseer of all
Never gonna fall
Amaranth, eternally lie, never gonna die
You're timeless
You're never gonna fade
You've got no need to pray
Timeless
Wish I could be like you
Forever blessed with life

We never win, we never lose
We always battle through
We climb up high, we lay down low
But we never follow the flow
We never arrive and we never depart
We're not seen as modern
But we're state of the art

Here today, here tomorrow
Gone today, gone tomorrow

Amaranth, sitting pretty in the mud
Took your chance and survived the flood
Amaranth, mocking flesh and blood
Though I don't disagree
You're timeless
Well, you've seen it all before
What lies behind that door
Timeless
Watching us fade
We're gonna tear it all apart

I lie awake at night
Empty, for fear of another worldly nightmare

We journeyed through green valleys
And along the rivers of life
In search of a holy chalice
To provide us all with the wisdom
That we may need to conquer
Our darkest thoughts and emotions
Never once looking behind us
For fear of loss in our faith
But we never lost our faith

What, what?
You don't believe in us?

You fools!

For if you perish
Then I will wither
You are my spirit
We will fade together
I will guide you
Never fail you
Keep you breathing
Spare your lives
Through whatever may come your way
Through wars and famine
Disease and flooding
I will always be at your side

And your love lies bleeding
Swamped by fear and misunderstanding
But our resolve and constant searching
Will nourish our dreams and keep us thriving
