

I Could Be God

Galahad

I could be God or I could be the Devil
I could be a force for good or I could be evil
I can smile like an Angel
Or I can roar like a demon
I can be timid, quiet as a mouse
Or I could go crazy like a psycho killer
I could be human, shock horror
Or perhaps some otherworldly creature

Which way will I go? It really depends on how I feel

I can always be God
He can exist deep inside of me
But it doesn't make me better or a better person
Perhaps it just gives me an excuse to do just what I want to do
God and the Devil are not so different
Both manipulate in their own ways

Which way shall I go? It really depends on how I feel
Am I happy or am I sad
Am I rational or am I mad

It's all a matter of perspective
Yes I guess it's all relative
Am I the poison
Am I the vice
It's for someone else to decide...
I COULD BE GOD

I could behave like a crazed maniac
Or I could sit quietly watching the carnage on the TV
But I'm still the same multi faceted me
It seems so ridiculous as I sit there moulded to the sofa
Contentedly sipping my Earl Grey tea

I can hide behind my own God
He will forgive me all of my sins
Give me carte blanche to do what I want
Just as long as I repent

And it's all a matter of perspective
Yes I guess it's all relative
Am I the poison
Am I the vice
It's for someone else to decide...
I COULD BE GOD

Sanity, insanity, there's a fine line between the two
You can see me how you want to see me now
I got a different perception to you
But it could be a different me to what others may see, you see?
And you may be a different you to what you perceive as being you

You could be God too...
You could be got to
You could be God too...
You could be got to...

I could be God too...

I can hide behind my own God
He will forgive me all of my sins
Give me carte blanche to do what I want
Just as long as I repent

And it's all a matter of perspective
Yes I guess it's all relative
Am I the poison
Am I the vice
It's for someone else to decide
I COULD BE GOD...
I COULD BE GOD