

Set The World In Flames

Gallows End

Everyday of my life I've been building it up inside
For so long I've tried my best to remain sane
And I know in my heart that as soon as night is falling
The beast inside will rise and take control

Chorus:

Can't you see it in my eyes
Can't you see the fire burning
Hate is all that's left
Enough to set the world in flames

I've tried a million times to somehow ease this pain
But every fucking time I crash and burn
I am standing at the threshold of a never-ending night
I'm staring at the gates of hell

And now the night is here and every shadow comes to life
There's no way to control this state I'm in
And as the burning red is rising
And as the flames taste the sky
The fire in my eyes shines bright as day