When I wake up at the end of the day Moon comes out, the sun fades away I get myself out of my bed and feel like dying Is it really me now - could this be the real thing Is there someone here to ease the pain So easy, so easy now, has it really gone too far It don't matter anyhow, sometimes I feel like an Echo in the wind, that's not coming back again I look inside my head and what I see Are the reflections of the world. And I see genius and insanity Say you're alive - you're part of the show You came to foresee the signs on the wall So many tried in vain - they know the truth Learn - how to live and fight and learn-How to fight them right, learn - how to give and take it all You can be strong if you know who you are The signs on the wall say move on before it's too late Can you see them? Do you want to be the one who's creeping on the floor? Could it be forever? Could it all be lies? The chaos is a killer and he knows who will fall Help me - I need some help Now is there someone out there What are you waiting for You're on the road to nowhere The only way I know Maybe I'm wrong, I haven't got a clue Don't know where I belong - tell me what is true Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Are you out there? Won't you help me? Don't know where I would go Is there real life... forevermore? And remember... "Keep smiling... Jesus loves you!" That's what they say... Can you cry forever? It's just a matter of taste But you say, "Do you, do you know what the truth is?" Think don't think - what can you see Our life is just a fantasy of someone we will never see Therefore I break down in laughter Now as I change my point of view

There's nothing left to make me blue - never again - no more

Come on in my friend and join the ball Everything is beautiful - even the band - it's magic Imagine you're superstar you gonna fly You gonna go far - so far

Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Oh won't you come to heal me - hear me Heal me! Heal me!