The Devil's Candy

Smoky old bars, bright neon lights Good ole boys and girls of the night An ice cold beer and a good shot of brandy I've always had a sweet tooth For the devil's candy

And I've fought it all my life And the battle's now a war But I'll get up tomorrow And I'll fight it all once more I want to do what's right But I'll never understand me I've always had a sweet tooth For the devil's candy

Well I've played the cards, and I've rolled the dice Well I gave up heaven for a fool's paradise I once lost an angel when a bad girl was handy I've always had a sweet tooth For the devil's candy

And I've fought it all my life And the battle's now a war But I'll get up tomorrow And I'll fight it all once more I want to do what's right But I'll never understand me I've always had a sweet tooth For the devil's candy

I want to do what's right But I'll never understand me I've always had a sweet tooth For the devil's candy Yes I've always had a sweet tooth For the devil's candy
