

Black And White Days

Gary Go

Every word I said I meant it.
All the time I had I spent it.
Was there nothing I could do to prevent it.
I don't understand how so many plans fell like water through my hands.

But you you color my black and white days.
You color my black and white days.
You do.
You color my black and white days.

I have changed as much as I can.
There's only so much change in one man.
I'm still trying to find who I am.
I would turn and run back to where I begun.
But its easier said than done.
Then there's you.

To color my black and white days.
You color my black and white days.
You do.
You color my black and white days.
Color my black and white days.
I can count on you.
To color my black and white.
Color my black and white.

When your here.
I come to life.
When your here.
How I burn to feel everything that I feel we touch.

You color my black and white days.
Color my black and white days.
You do. You color my black and white days.
Color my black and white days.

But I wonder who colors your black and white days.
And colors me black and white.
