

Stone Wall (Around Your Heart)

Gary Stewart

The days we spent together, now seem so few
And the day when I passed you on the street
Oh, you treated me like a stranger that you never knew
It's the same every time we meet

You built a stone wall all around your heart
Though my arms ache to hold you as before
You built a stone wall all around your heart
'Cause you won't let me love you anymore

How did I hurt you darling, why won't you stay?
Honey, what have I done to you?
For I still worship you dear in that same old way
How could you forget the love we knew?

You built a stone wall all around your heart
Though my arms ache to hold you as before
You built a stone wall all around your heart
You won't let me love you anymore
No, you won't let me love you anymore
