In the city you can feel it, feel it all around you
Something's going down in the streets alright
Concrete and steel will set the scene that will surround you
Can you feel the magic in the air tonight?

Let it shine upon you let it guide you to the meaning
Living in the hole where no one wants to go
Temporary sunshine in your everlasting evening
It's a miracle my friend anything ever grows

Move a little faster never notice never question
Leaving nothing more than clouds of dust in sight
It doesn't seem like much but you can call it my playground
There's a light that's gonna touch your soul tonight
