The Fountain Of Salmacis

Genesis

Hermaphrodite: a flower containing both male and female organs; a person or animal of both sexes.

The child Hermaphroditus was the son of Hermes and Aphrodite, the result of a secret love affair. For this reason he was entrusted to the nymphs of the isolated Mount Ida, who allowed him to grow up as a wild creature of the woods. After his encounter with the water-nymph Salmacis, he laid a curse upon the water. According to fable, all persons who bathed in the water became hermaphrodites.

From a dense forest of tall dark pinewood, Mount Ida rises like an island. Within a hidden cave, nymphs had kept a child; Hermaphroditus, son of gods, so afraid of their love.

As the dawn creeps up the sky
The hunter caught sight of a doe.
In desire for conquest,
He found himself within a glade he'd not beheld before.

Hermaphroditus:

"Where are you, my father? Give wisdom to your son"

Narrator:

"Then he could go no farther Now lost, the boy was guided by the sun"

And as his strength began to fail He saw a shimmering lake. A shadow in the dark green depths Disturbed the strange tranquility.

Salmacis:

"The waters are disturbed Some creature has been stirred"

Narrator:

"The waters are disturbed Naiad queen Salmacis has been stirred"

As he rushed to quench his thirst,
A fountain spring appeared before him
And as his heated breath brushed through the cool mist,
A liquid voice called, "Son of gods, drink from my spring".

The water tasted strangely sweet.

Behind him the voice called again.

He turned and saw her, in a cloak of mist alone

And as he gazed, her eyes were filled with the darkness of the lake.

Salmacis:

"We shall be one We shall be joined as one"

Narrator:

"She wanted them as one Yet he had no desire to be one"

Hermaphroditus: "Away from me cold-blooded woman Your thirst is not mine" Salmacis: "Nothing will cause us to part Hear me, O Gods"

Unearthly calm descended from the sky
And then their flesh and bones were strangely merged
Forever to be joined as one.

The creature crawled into the lake.
A fading voice was heard:
"And I beg, yes I beg that all who touch this spring May share my fate"

Salmacis:

"We are the one We are the one"

Narrator:

"The two are now made one, Demi-god and nymph are now made one"

Both had given everything they had. A lover's dream had been fulfilled at last, Forever still beneath the lake.
