

Another Melody

Gentleman

Love alone will conquer all,
But it takes a little something,
And then it gives a little something,
Just read the writings on the wall,
And then receive a little something,
Remember to give something

Rude boy the war could over,
But you still buss that gun people run for cover,
If you take your time you'll discover,
Without the noise oh yes we could rejoice,
The taking of a life does it bring you joy,
When the only thing what happen that we self destroy,
In the making of great undertaking,
Vision forsaking knees them keep shaking

Life Could be a sweet refrain,
But the only thing we feel is pain,
When whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it,
And as we looking through the picture frame,
Another melody we must maintain,
The whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it

And we heal not by building on lies,
But by replacing this synthetic life,
With something more appealing,
Pray for it everytime we're kneeling,
Only then can we soar above,
Every gwaan whey a block the love,
We all wanna be feeling,
Instead of this hatred that we're dealing

Life could be a sweet refrain,
But the only thing we feel is pain,
When whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it,
And as we looking through the picture frame,
Another melody we must maintain,
The whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it

What will it take for peace threat to sign again,
And what we seek inside seems hard to find mi friend,
Keep on pushing to the end,
Broke down the barriers,
Get up and make we pop down them fence,
Tired of being a victim in the making,
Tired of sitting, waiting, smiling when I'm aching,
Not happy but I'm faking,
Underneath the veneer oh my heart is breaking now

Life could be a sweet refrain,
But the only thing we feel is pain,
When whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it,

And as we looking through the picture frame,
Another melody we must maintain,
The whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it

You say you want a lot more love if grow,
But everytime you plant all the seed and it don't sow,
Can't blame you cause you just do what you do,
All the ignorance will come if over throw,
I know it seems like your hearing the same word,
It sounds chicle but it still as sure,
As the first time you heard it,
Make no mistake we're all allergic to the verdict,
So come make we start to change,

Big fat lies have been told,
Got to watch yourself or get caught,
In their cyber control,
Don't you lose the side of your goal,
Meditate and sweep over your soul

Life Could be a sweet refrain,
But the only thing we feel is pain,
When whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it,
And as we looking through the picture frame,
Another melody we must maintain,
The whole world a feel it so how do we heal it,
Instead a we wheel it make we seal it.
