

Heaven Waits

Geographer

white waves that crash before us call out some siren's chorus still heaven waits for no one here carved out a perfect circle right where the memory left you
still heaven waits for no one here
streetlights cascade in ribbons straight to the moon
they're waiting to see you beneath the weeping willow playing its tune
it howls through you lightning's an orphaned dream who's trying to find a reason still heaven waits for no one here
i was awake for it all
the heart of a child is beating and it goes hoooo
