

ANOTHER WAY TO SAY GOODBYE

George Jones

I can't leave you in the mornin'
When you wake your child's little head looks so appealin'
Walking around in your bunny shoes
And my pajama tops you see that stay home feelin'.

I can't leave you in the night
'Cause you're afraid to be alone
And beg these tears to dry
I could never leave you cryin'
There must be another way to say goodbye.

Every time I try to pack I double up inside
Just like the cloths I'm foldin'
Every empty hanger I put back
Feels like a cement block my hands are holdin'.

Honey, if it's all the same to you
I'd love to stay right here at least till you walk by
Find an easier way of leavin'
There must be another way to say goodbye.

There must be another way to say goodbye, make the break
There must be a bypass round the hurting traffic jam to take
There must be another way to part
And come unglued each time we start to try
There must be another way to say goodbye.

There must be another way to say goodbye
