

The Love In Your Eyes

George Jones

I've seen the rockies bloom in the springtime
The bright scenes of scarlet and gold
And I've seen the moonlight dance on the ocean
Like a silver balet that unfolds
I've seen the bright lights of old New York City
There's nothing in the world that shines
Like the love in your eyes
Like the love in your eyes.

There ain't no diamond that ever has sparkled
There ain't no stars that shine
Like the love in your eyes
Like the love in your eyes.

I've had some good friends turn out to be strangers
Funny how quickly they turned
And I've had some lovers that help me discover
How easy it is to get burned.

In this world of glitter and cosmetic people
There one thing that's real in my life
It's the love in your eyes
It's the love in your eyes.

There ain't no diamond that ever has sparkled
There ain't no stars that shine
Like the love in your eyes
Like the love in your eyes.

Sometimes I wander and lose my direction
Sometimes I go over the line
But it's such a comfort and it's such a blessing
To know that you're there all the time.

When I feel I'm driftin' on a sea of confusion
There's a beacon that always shines
It's the love in your eyes
It's the love in your eyes.

There ain't no diamond that ever has sparkled
There ain't no stars that shine
But like the love in your eyes
Like the love in your eyes.

It's the love in your eyes
The love in your eyes...
