

What I do Best

George Jones

I guess I finally found what I do best.

I always knew there was something I'd be good at Every man has something he does better than the rest
I still can't believe how much I miss you
And I guess I finally found what I do best.

When it came to lovin' oh you were something
I took all the love you gave and I surely made a mess
Yes, I lost in love but in sadness I've been succesful
Yes, I guess I finally found what I do best.

They say that every man has given talent
But if hurtin' is a talent then I know that I've been blessed
Oh, missing you just seems to come so natural
And I guess I finally found what I do best.

Oh, if there's something I wish I wasn't good at
But I guess I deserve what I do best...
