

You're Looking At A Happy Man

George Jones

Well, I jumped outta bed and I hollared hallelujah
For there ain't another soul in sight
I sing a little song as I fix my coffee
'Cause she's really gone, alright.

Put on my old blue jeans and my levi jacket
I'm gonna have all the fun I can
Tonight I'm really gonna be myself
And you're looking at a happy man.

Well, my baby left with all of my money
And nearly everythinbg that I had
She thinks I'm a-sittin' at home a crying
But I'm far from being sad.

She had me a-bein' somebody I wasn't
But it's good to me again
Now I'm free as a breeze I do as I please
And you're looking at a happy man.

Everythings gone and I ain't got nothin'
But I don't need nothin' but time
There ain't a thing I miss I like it like this
Lord, I got an easy mind.

Well, I'm not the same I made a big change
I want everyone to understand
This old country boy is jumpin' for joy
And your lookim' at a happy man.

Well, I jumped outta bed and I said God almighty
There's ain't naked woman in sight
She thinks I'm a-sittin' at home a cryin'
But everything'll be alright.

Put on my old blue jeans and my levi jacket
Gonna have all the fun I can
Tonight I'm really gonna be myself
And you're looking at a happy man.

Everythings gone and I ain't got nothin'
But I don't need nothin' but time
There ain't a thing I miss I like it like this
Lord, I got an easy mind.

Well, I'm not the same I made a big change
I want everyone to understand
This old country boy is jumpin' for joy
And your lookim' at a happy man.

This old country boy is jumpin' for joy
And your lookim' at a happy man...
