

Half of Me

Geri Halliwell

Just like an apple,
Cut down the middle
I only have one matching half
I gave you the finger
You took me to dinner
And you made me laugh

I took one look in your eye
You know when you know it
You fit me perfectly right
You're the other half of me

I thought love was bullshit
Only for the foolish
But you're the other half of me
I never believed it
Was too proud to need it
But you're the other half of me
You're the other half of me
You're the other half of me

You're better than chocolate
You're right in the pocket
You were tailor-made for me
I wanna have your baby
Gotta have you like crazy
And iron your shirts

I took one look in your eye
You know when you know it
You fit me perfectly right
You're the other half of me

I thought love was bullshit
Only for the foolish
But you're the other half of me
I never believed it
Was too proud to need it
But you're the other half of me
You're the other half of me
You're the other half of me
Half of me
You're the other half of me

I took one look in your eyes
You fit me perfectly right
You're the other half of me

I thought love was bullshit
Only for the foolish
But you're the other half of me
I never believed it,
Was too proud to need it
But you're the other half of me,
You're the other half of me
You're the other half of me
Half of me

You're the other half of me

I took one look in your eyes
