

The Strangest Stranger

Get Scared

If you're late
What a waste
You're a stranger, shoving your words down my throat

If it's helping
I'll put you to bed with
The truth cause you need it the most

I can hear the children talking, screaming you're a wreck
If you think you're so convincing, where's your self respect?

I can't feel sorry for you, no
I can't watch you throw it all away, I'm not like you
Every day you make the same mistakes, I can't follow you

In a chase you're ashamed you're in danger of Spending your nights all alone

As you fell through the same fake emotions
Retracing your steps like a ghost

I can hear the children talking, screaming you're a wreck
If you think you're so convincing, where's your self respect?

I can't feel sorry for you, no
I can't watch you throw it all away, I'm not like you
Every day you make the same mistakes, I can't follow you

I take your knife and throw it at my face
Treat us like we're a number all the same
Doesn't make a difference if it hurts
If you will so stoop so low where you deserve

And give you me your passion
Give me your curse
You're fucking toxic
Show me what you're worth

And give you me your passion
Give me your curse
You're fucking toxic
Show me exactly what you're worth

I can't feel sorry for you, oh no I can't Oh no I can't
I can't watch you throw it all away, I'm not like you
Every day you make the same mistakes, I can't follow you

And I can't watch you go down
And drag my name through the ground
I can't follow you
I can't follow you
