Offering

Gil Scott-Heron

We have something to offer you We have music to offer you

Spirits may come into view We have spirits to offer you

Seasons my change And feelings may change But music remains

Seasons may change And feelings may change But music remains and it fills you

We have something to offer you We have new love to offer you And music to offer you And spirits to offer you And new love and music to offer you

We have