I heard I needed to travel.

"Go out and spread the word" people say.

So I'm kickin' up dust and gravel on a racetrack near Marseilles.

If it all sounds like a mystery things that you just don't understand let me give you a little bit of history about me and the Midnight Band:

On a racetrack in France everybody started clapping their hands. It seemed like a long way fron Union Station.

On a racetrack in France everybody started to dance.

I was a long way from home but those were good vibrations.

Me and the bothers no parlez-vous. French was way down on my list.
(But) the Africans said "Merci beaucoup!" 'cause the rhythm's what they missed.

The people got the message from the music that we play. It really shouldn't a been no surprise that we all got down that day:

On a racetrack in France everybody got to clapping their hands. It seemed like a long way from Union Station.

On a racetrack in France Everybody started to dance. I was a long way from home but those were good vibrations.
