

Just As You Are

Gilbert O'Sullivan

You may not be the world's
Most beautiful, glittering glamorous star
But you're all in the world that I'll ever need
And I love you just as you are

Now Sophie Loren and yourself have in common
Really nothing whatsoever so far
But then who needs biggies when with a pair like Twiggy's
I love you just as you are

When you do go away, even for a day
I would like it to be known
That I wish that you could stay
Now the day we got married
You'll remember I carried you
Over the threshold of Mooney's bar

Where in between every round
You fell flat out on the ground
Still I love you just as you are
I love you just as you are

Not to mention Mick and you brother Vic
Who I hear have settled have down after two years in the nick
Take it away Semprini
When you do away, even for a day
I would like it to be known
That I wish that you could stay

So you may not be the world's
Most beautiful, glittering glamorous star
But you're all in the world that I'll ever need
And I love you just as you
Love you just as you are
I love you just as you are