

To Trust You

Ginny Owens

I'm knocking on Your door
Won't You answer?
I'm waiting for a word or just a whisper
But if You can't answer me this time
I can handle everything just fine

'Cause somehow I seem to think I have power
And I know best how to make things better
I try to carry everything alone
But now the time has come to let go

To trust You with my life
To believe You all the time
And to leave my doubt behind
Oh, to trust You with my life

Will I ever learn to stop and listen?
To keep knocking on Your door until it opens?
Teach me what it means to believe
That You are strong enough to carry me

Oh, to trust You with my life
To believe You all the time
And to leave my doubt behind
Oh, to trust You with my life

And to give You everything
All the deepest parts of me
And to know You're always right
To trust You with my life

Broken here before You on my knees
Is my only hope of finding peace
