

Out Of The Blue (too Far Gone)

Giuffria

Out of the blue, deep in the night.
Somebody calls to me, go to the light.
Giving no name, showing no face.
My heart beats at frightening paces.
Out of the blue and into a dream.
Somebody watches me.
Open my eyes and stare at the wall.
Those tiny little footsteps at the end of the hall.
Come to steal me away.
I'm too far gone.
I'm too far gone.
Out of the blue and into the black.

Dark as my room may, they never come back.
When breaking the silence, the voices they call.
It's those tiny little footsteps at the end of the hall.
Come to steal me away, away.
I'm too far gone.
I'm too far gone.
I'm too far gone.
Too far gone. Tell me I'm dreaming.
I'm too far gone.
I'm too far gone.
I'm too far gone.
I'm too far gone.
