

Betting On A Loser

Glasseater

Roll the dice, see what you get
I've lost the bet
You close your eyes
Let's see which side of you shows up today
I hope it's not a new one
Here's my heart just take it, I don't need it anymore i've learned to live without it, I don't need it anymore
I've learned not to feel and not to see
You're like a shadow passing me
I don't even notice you
So place your bets, Let's see who wins
My patience is wearing thin
I'm betting on a loser
I hope you wear it around your neck like a trophy of your accomplishments
