

You

Glasvegas

A door I've yet to open
A secret I need knowing
A rock I cherish instead of throwing
My river to this sea still flowing You

My glow in the dark sea horse never not glowing
Through my sails this breeze is blowing
My child my flame forever growing
My scars from the past I admit I'm postponing for you You

A life long debt I don't mind owing
It was to you bowie sang 'he rose in'
Never my loneliness can truly be alone
When future visions of true love is everyday showing You
