Glenn Medeiros

Someday Love

Someday, right away Hey you out there I'd know you anywhere Your smile can't hide the pain Your eyes give you away Seems love has gone again It happens now and then Suddenly the one you need No longer wants you But if you can find the heart to let it go

Someday love (will come back to you) Someday love (will come shining through) Someday love will be the reason You've got to keep believin', someday love

Maybe it's much too soon To try to comfort you The words won't set you free When love's a memory Oh but don't forget Your life's not over yet Even the darkest night Can't last forever And just keep in mind the sun will shine again

Someday love (will come back to you) Someday love (will come shining through) Someday love will be the freedom That will always keep you dreamin'

Someday love, someday's love Someday love will be the freedom That will always kep you dreamin'