

Open Wounds

Gob

I know you're good I know you're right
And still I wonder still I fight
I count my paces under my breath
Unconsciously I make my way to you
With nothing left to say I break every promise I make
And when my heart beats it hurts before it gets better
It's gotta get worse so I nurse

Open wounds, open minds, I need you to take the pain away
I forget you and you remind me and I miss you, I missed you

Didn't know that I could feel, didn't know I could fall
I want to take a minute and look at you
The precious way you carry your head
I won't take my eyes off you until I'm dead

I watch you, hold you tight
Feel your heart beat, hear you sigh
Before you go, close your eyes, make a wish
