

Stand and Deliver

Gob

where it all began cause i don't even know but the shit keeps piling on top you don't make amends and i don't understand and you don't even really know me. someone's holding on to me i think i really should calm down i can feel my adrenaline running through my veins and blood. sometimes you can lose control and they don't understand they take you for a ride and then they want to hold your hand. you fought you screamed and they don't even know what you really have in store you hear all the shit and you don't fucking care you just have to ignore where it all began cause i don't even know but the shit keeps piling on top you don't make amends and i don't understand and you don't even really know me. someone's holding on to me i think i really should calm down i can feel my adrenaline they feed you full of shit that you already know they take you for a ride and then they want to hold your hand.