

Judge the Blood

God Forbid

Listen to these words of wisdom

It's time to break down the walls, break down the cries

And when I wake does the sun shine on me?

And when I sleep does the moon look from above?

It's time to break down the walls, break down the cries

It's time to break down the walls, break down the cries

And when I wake does the sun shine on me

And when I sleep does the moon look from above

Have you ever taken the time to judge the blood?

Have you ever taken the time to think about it?