Where We Come From

God Forbid

Fire..this moment has arrived Desire...take a look into my third eye

No one knows where life will lead us Fate carries us up and down Can't take it, can't trust, the words you uttered are busted Broken, twisted, and bent but whole again

No time to rest. No time to wonder why Walls closing in on all four sides Where will this path lead? Realize what has been done We must remember...where we all come from

Super elevated thoughts of you, thinking your words held the tr uth My time and my patience has come and gone and been wasted Force-fed your lies for far too long

No time to rest. No time to wonder why Walls closing in on all four sides Where will this path lead? Realize what has been done We must remember...where we all come from

No time to rest, walls closing in And will I die?

No time to rest. No time to wonder why Walls closing in on all four sides Where will this path lead? Realize what has been done We must remember...where we all come from

Walls closing in on all four sides