Turning to Stone

Godsmack

Leave me bleeding
Leave me dying on my own
Leave me wanting
Climb your way into my soul
I don't like it
I can't live without a trace
I can't hide it
I can't take away its face

I don't know my name
I've turned against my home
I don't know who to blame
I'm turning into stone, turning to stone

You can't hear me
You can't see me in your space
You don't believe in me
Even when you kneel and pray
Since I found you
I've been wanting you so bad
I'm all around you
Willing to take those things I never had

I don't know my name
I've turned against my home
I don't know who to blame
I'm turning into stone

I don't know my name
I've turned against my home
I don't know who to blame
I'm turning into stone, turning to stone