

Low Lands

Gojira

Tell me what you see
In the afterlife
Par-delà le ciel
Par-delà le soleil

In all there is to learn
The sun is on our side
And though you're on the run
You will survive

Expanded to the state of light
The deepest corners of the world
Gliding through the low lands
And swimming all the oceans

Walking through the silence
Already made it through the night
There will be a new day
Whenever the sun rises

You're invisible
You're in everything
Tell me what you see
Tell me what you see
When you're everywhere
When you're everywhere
Tell me now
Tell me now

While you drift away from all the plates of this world
You're put out of misery
Giant bones hurt
You won't have to face it again
Every step of the way gets you higher

All the voices trapped underneath the ground
Let them all go in the sky
Find the power lost underneath the ground
Let it all blow in the sky

All the voices trapped in my head
Let them all scream in the night
Find the power lost underneath the ground
Let it all blow in the sky