Baby, put your hand up You wanna be with someone you can't afford to be Lay your head with me

I'm too lazy to put my hand up I wanna be somewhere I can't afford to stay, no Let me drive you away

Go, because lately, we're going through a run of bad luck She's going crazy, she only thinks the worst about us I said please, please, please chill out Ain't exactly easy for me Or in that case for you Lay your head with me

Lately, I put my hand up I had to do something I couldn't afford to do But it's no longer up to you

It would be lazy, put your hand up You wanna be somewhere you can't afford to stay now Let me drive you away

Oh, because lately, been going through a run of bad luck She's going crazy, she only thinks the worst about us I said please, please, please chill out Ain't exactly easy for me Or in that case for you

When I look back now things have changed With patience, thought and restraint I never thought it would go Lay your head with me Lay your head with me

Ooh, because lately, been going through a run of bad luck She's going crazy, she only thinks the worst about us I said please, please, please chill out It ain't exactly easy for me Or in that case for you

When I look back now things have changed With patience, thought and restraint I never thought it would go Lay your head with me
