

Think of Me

Good Riddance

I never knew how good I had it I had to treat you like a habit it became what I'd guess you call a slight obsession now I've had some time to work it out way too much time to be without the one I've wanted you're my right direction when you're back there do you think of me

when you're alone
before you sleep
you are the one I'm waiting for this time's not like before I'm going to carry you away thinking good things now I know we'll work it out somehow I try to keep my chin up but it's so hard to let you go it never hurt before to be alone now your voice is salvation on the phone I only wish you weren't so far away