

Our Song

Goodnight Nurse

Hangs on a wall
An I'm surprised I even noticed it at all
The years have warped the frame
A crack runs through the pain
And its begun to fade
But the pictures still the same
If you look close enough you'll know

Sing me your song
I'll sing my song
You had to go
You know you're my hero
Time keeps marching on
This is our song

So now I stare
At an empty room
But memories give my soul a different view
Of all the live you've touched
You taught me so much
Now angels lift you up
To a place you loved so much
And you'll be welcome there I know

This is a sad goodbye
But its not a bad goodbye

Well I don't know
What I believe
All I know is that theres more to it than me
Its time for you to go
To say goodbye I know
I cross my T's real slow
And close my eyes
If you look close enough you'll know

This is a sad goodbye
But its not a bad goodbye
This is a sad goodbye
But its not a bad goodbye
