Same Old Loverman

Gordon Lightfoot

I'm not some long lost someone Just dropped in to say hello It's that same old lover man Baby you lost so long ago

'Cause I was born to believe I never could deceive, believe me

I hear no children's voices Have they gone back to school And that same old lover man Is still acting like a fool

I guess I was born to bring you grief Though I never was a thief, believe me

It's cold outside your window
Please let me in, the night is wild
It's that same old lover man
Not some lonesome winsome child

An' I was born to believe I never could deceive
