"...By violating the oath sworn to me and not remembering the good I had done him, he had cast off the yoke of my sovereignty... I slew gr eat numbers of his warriors, an immeasurable defeat I inflicted upon him. All the ones who had risen up with him I cut down with the sword ."

Chariot traces carved in sand Once more, pain, will expand my land Each arrow thrown Strengthen my throne

Bounds to my realm, the sword shall set My blade was the one that you've last met With red-stained hands, The victor stands

From wisdom to hate From wisdom to hate

Intrude my peace... war, I'll proclaim
Your empty skull will be my gain
I will, with greed
Watch yourself bleed

With envious eyes, on me you've sinned Each place I pass are left to ruins On your decline My reign will shine

From wisdom to hate From wisdom to hate

I am the one which none defies Warfare and I are unified

Wisdom collapse Hatred soon will rise

Chariot traces carved in sand Once more, pain, will expand my land Each arrow thrown Strengthen my throne

Bounds to my realm, the sword shall set My blade was the one that you've last met With red-stained hands, The victor stands

I am the one which none defies Warfare and I are unified