

I Won't Play

Gossip

You get the wrong idea from someone else
How you live with her, instead of live with yourself
What's your secret, what's your secret, what's your secret?

It's a mystery how you sleep at night
And it seems to me, the harder you try
You're digging deeper, and deeper, and deeper!

And the blame is the name, is the name of the game
Then I won't play, if it means losing to you
I'm on a first name basis with your victims of love
I give you so many chances, but you screw them all up
Oh, it's in pieces, in pieces, in pieces

Oh, oh, oh,
All your jokes are on me,
But who's laughing now?
You're ancient history,
Another face in the crowd
How're you doing, you doing, you doing
Common decency, imagine the love
That with the sympathy just wasn't deserved
And she won't either, don't either, won't either

And the blame is the name, is the name of the game
Then I won't play, if it means losing to you
I'm on a first name basis with your victims of love
I give you so many chances, but you screw them all up
Oh, it's in pieces, in pieces, in pieces

And the blame is the name, is the name of the game
Then I won't play, if it means losing to you
I'm on a first name basis with your victims of love
I give you so many chances, but you screw them all up
Oh, it's in pieces, in pieces, in pieces
