Coming Your Way

Take it all the way, the way you wanna see it Filling up the world with words without a meaning Just another chink, the chink is now revealing I think it's coming your way Stick and stone thrown, a fire we can see through I can take a guess but I ain't gonna bet on you The signs are clear, it's clear it doesn't touch you I think it's coming your way Yeah, it's coming I think it's coming your way You know it's coming The storm is coming your way Take it all away, away with all the lying Way to many known unknowns among the crying A time bomb, the pressure's at the ceiling I think it's coming your way Word is on the street, the beat is getting closer They don't have a name, the beast is on the poster Just feel the heat, the oil is boiling over I think it's coming your way Yeah, it's coming I think it's coming your way You know it's coming The storm is coming your way Burning on your back, it's back and sticking on you I can take a guess but you ain't gonna make it through Who's gonna feed the need, I know it ain't you The storm is coming your way Yeah, it's coming I think it's coming your way You know it's coming I think it's coming your way I think it's coming your way The storm is coming You know it's coming your way
