

Tequila Symphony, No. 5

Gotthard

After midnight and the moon shines down
Words don't fit right, while my head it spins again
The more I try to feed the loneliness inside
The more I know that I'm to blame
Right or wrong I gotta find myself again
Wake up from this symphony
I just need somebody who's gonna
Shake me up and spin me 'round
I need your lovin' maybe
I don't need some kind of inspiration like Beethoven had
I need somebody to believe in me
And that somebody is you
Now a sunrise and the daylight blinds, oh no
Shining, unkind, naked truth I face again
The more I try to feed the loneliness inside
Only got myself to blame
Right or wrong I gotta find myself again
In this tequila symphony
I just need somebody who's gonna
Shake me up and spin me 'round
I need your lovin' baby
I don't need some kind of inspiration like Beethoven had
I need somebody to believe in me
Yeah, to believe in me, and that somebody is you
I don't need nobody who's gonna get me up to take me down
Need somebody like...
I don't need nobody who's gonna get me up to take me down
Need somebody like you
I just need somebody who's gonna
Shake me up and spin me 'round
I need your body baby
I don't need some kind of inspiration like Beethoven had
I need somebody to believe in me
And that somebody is you
