

Unspoken Words

Gotthard

Here I lie awake
And my world is upside down
All has turned to grey
And I start to hate this town
I try to cope, what happened to my life
Now the king of fools
Has finally got his crown

Oh lord I should've seen it coming
But I was so blind
When all out of nowhere
She entered my life
And I did let her go

Tonight, unspoken words
Inside, something still hurts
Deep inside

Would've never believed
This could happen to me for real
Cuz I've lost my head
To a heart that's made of steel
And here I stand with no more words to say
See me down on the ground
No, you'll never know how I feel

Oh lord I should've seen it coming
Come, answer my prayer
But if life's just a game
One thing's oh so true
I'm gonna play this one with you

Tonight, unspoken words
Inside, something still hurts

Tonight, unspoken words
Next time, I won't make the same mistake twice

Looking back on endless broken glass
Cracks with every step I take
I can't get rid of shadows of the past
Out in the rain
Just me to blame

Tonight, unspoken words
Inside, something still hurts

Tonight, unspoken words
Next time, I won't make the same mistake twice

Something, something, something still hurts
Deep inside
