

Love You to Life

Grace Jones

Who can define infinity?
Definition of the end
Don't ask me will die for you
Question always looks for an answer
Question:

I love you to life
I love you to life
I love you to life

(I'm not prepared)

Could your dark heart be contagious?
Would you pray for someone's demise?
If there is no law, there are no crimes
Is fear the air you breathe?
Breathe

I love you to life
I love you to life
I love you to life

(And I'm not prepared)

Your creator is what you are jealous of
You're still existing on another plane
If you should venture on a question not asked
So strange, we're all so different somehow
Different

Falling like a star, that leaves a trail
Then vanishes behind you
You play with the same feelings
That the gods must possess

I love you to life
And I won't ask you, to die, for me
I love you to life
I won't die for you
(Love you to life)

Calling all the gods
Calling all the gods
Calling all the gods

Don't you die for me
Between the beginning and the end
You'll find magnitudes of questions that divide
Attracted to immorality. A magnet to immortality
If I could have my way

There would never be an end to this beginning
If I could have my way

I love you to life
(Love, love, love. Live, live, live)
I love you to life

And I won't ask you to die for me
I won't die for you
Don't you die for me
I won't die for you