

Memo (Boyfriend Jeans)

Grace

Looked in your eyes and I knew it was over
Told me you tried and put your hand on my shoulder
Don't touch me, I don't want your pity
Crazy In Love, we would play it on repeat
Told me I was your Bey, and you were my Jay Z
You called time, gave me no warning sign

I'm wearing, yeah, I'm still wearing your jeans
Still roll them up, still got that hole in the knee
I bought into the dream that you sold me
When you told me I'd never be lonely
The joke's on me, yeah

Straight to my house when you picked up your first car
I didn't care that it came from a junkyard
Sunday drives, you were my ride or die

Still wearing, yeah, I'm still wearing your jeans
Still roll them up, still got that hole in the knee
I bought into the dream that you sold me
When you told me I'd never be lonely
The joke's on me, yeah

Now I choke on the words that I wrote for you
How am I supposed to sing them now
Boy, you're breaking my heart
You're breaking my heart
Cause I'm still...

I'm wearing, yeah, I'm still wearing your jeans
Gotta roll them up, still got that hole in the knee
I bought into the dream that you sold me
When you told me I'd never be lonely
The joke's on me, yeah

Could you hear us talking out there?
Wasn't really bad, was it?